Metkovich, Herzegovina, June 30—The bodies of the late Archduke Ferdinand and Duchess Hohenberg arrived by special train this morning from Sarajevo. The coffins were conveyed to the yacht, Dalmat, lying in the river. Houses in every hamlet along the river, Marenta, were draped in mourning and the populace assembled on the banks, men and women bearing lighted candles and all kneeling while the yacht passed. At the mouth of the river the bodies were placed on a battleship and conveyed to Trieste. There was a great profusion of flowers and wreaths.

CHARGE OF FAKE IS MADE AGAINST FIGHT

Johnson Could Have Finished
Moran at Any Time.

Paris, June 30.—Disgust at the hippodrome staged at the Velodrome d'Hiver by Jack Johnson and Frank Moran was marked here by charges of fake. Several of the newspapers made flat charges that Moran was allowed to stay twenty rounds by the negro for the moving pictures, and that Moran knew before he entered the ring that he was not to be knocked out.

These statements were based largely upon the opinions of those who saw the fight, which were unanimous that Johnson could have put Moran away at any time he chose. They were added to an alleged confession of Jack Adams, one of Johnson's trainers, who declared Tom Flannagan, Johnson's adviser, was in the plot to let Moran stick through the mill.

Paris, June 30.—Jack Johnson when asked what he had to say in reply to Jack Adams' charge that his fight with Frank Moran was a fake said: "It is an absolute lie. Adams' statement is false from beginning to end."

FREEPORT OFFICIALS DISCUSS NEAR-BEER

NECESSARY TO HAVE GOVERNMENT LICENSE TO SELL DRINK—WILL MAKE TEST CASE.

Freeport, June 30—Whether or not near beer can be sold in this city is a question now being considered by the city officials. It is necessary to have a government license to sell the drink and it is also claimed that the beverage contains more alcohol than can be in a drink and still have the drink pass as a non-intoxicating beverage. It is contended by the officials that near beer cannot be sold in the city without violating the local option law. A test case will soon be tried to settle the question.

M'KENZIE ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

CONGRESSMAN ASKS HIS PEOPLE
TO RE-ELECT HIM TO OFFICE
FOR ANOTHER TERM.

HE HAS SERVED DISTRICT WELL

McKenzie's Work as Representative in Congress Speaks for Him—Now Recognized as One of the Leaders.

Hon. John C. McKenzie announces formally in the Telegraph today that he will be a candidate for the nomination for congress on the republican ticket, subject to the primaries held September 9th.

Congressman McKenzie closes his second term as a member of the National House of Representatives on March 4, 1915. During the time that he has served his constituents at the national capital he has tried at all times to do his duty as he saw it, regardless of party. Mr. McKenzie is one of the members of congress who represents all his people. He has made friends in congress. Democrats as well as his republican colleagues admire him for his ability and for the frank manner in which he stands for his people on the floor of the House, both in debate and in the committee room.

HON. JOHN C. M'KENZIE,
Who Asks Re-Election to Congress.

Mr. McKenzie is a member of the committee on Military Affairs and the ranking republican member on the committee of Elections No. 3. Several weeks ago, as ranking republican member of the committee on Elections, he led the minority fight in the contest of Gill vs. Dyer, and after his speech on the floor of the House, democrats, progressives and republicans gathered about him and congratulated him on the manner of handling his side of the important contest. In that contest he made many friends, and today he is looked upon as one of the leading republican members of the House of Representatives. There is nothing that tries a member but so much as to lead the fight in an election contest on the floor of the House. This is one of the most difficult propositions a new member—and an old member, for that matter—has to go up against. But "Mac," as Mr. McKenzie is called in congress, made good.

During the time Mr. McKenzie has served his people in the 13th district he has delivered several speeches well worthy of consideration. His address on the Panama Canal Tolls proposition was one of the best delivered in the House. He has done good work as a member of the committee on Military Affairs.

It is believed that the voters of the 13th district are well pleased with Mr. McKenzie's work as congressman and they also believe that he will be re-elected to serve the district for another term of two years.

TRIBUNE SAYS MAYOR SEEKS OFFICE

CHICAGO PAPER SAYS COLONEL IS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS-MAN-AT-LARGE.

MR. BRINTON DENIES STORY

Declares He is Not a Candidate for Any Office, and There is No
Truth in Article.

The Chicago Tribune of this morning has the following concerning the political "plans" of Mayor Wm. B. Brinton of this city. However, when questioned concerning the story, Mayor Brinton denied vehemently that there is a word of truth in the story, and he stated positively that he is not a candidate for any office. The story in the Tribune is:

William B. Brinton of Dixon has been proffered the support of the Dunne administration, plus the strength of United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis and the powers at Washington.

Mr. Brinton is an announced candidate now for one of the two democratic nominations for congressman at large. Under the last Cleveland administration he was one of the United States marshals in Illinois, and had a conspicuous part in the strike troubles of 1894.

It is understood the senatorship proposition was put up directly to Mr. Brinton, who is in the plow manufacturing business, by Gov. Dunne when the executive was down in Lee county within the last thirty days in connection with the good roads movement.

Declines Race for Senate.

Mr. Brinton, it is understood, declined the support of the Dunne-Lewis combination and said that he cared not for a senatorial canvass and that he preferred to become a candidate for congressman at large. His petition for that office, therefore, is to be filed in Springfield July 11.

OPPOSE BROWNE AS CHAUTAUQUA ORATOR

Minister Voices Protest to Lee
O'Neil's Lorimer Taint.

Urbana, Ill., June 30.—The engagement of Lee O'Neil Brown of Ottawa, state representative and Lorimer aid in the election of the latter to the United States senate, as a speaker at the Urbana Chautauqua, has aroused a controversy over the appropriateness of having him, in view of his connection with "putting Lorimer over."

The Rev. R. F. McDaniel, pastor of the First Methodist church, in his sermon Sunday criticised the engaging of the Ottawan severely. Previously the clergyman was outspoken in denouncing the invitation to the representative as a blot on the fair name of the city.

"The Commercial club stands sponsor for none of the speakers," said Charles D. Bourke, president. "The only idea is to secure good speakers who will attract crowds. I do not know Browne. I don't imagine he will say anything to offend any one, and if he did we are tired of some of the wishy-washy stuff the chautauqua has had. The invitation will not be withdrawn."

HURL NEW BOMB IN BOSNIAN RIOT

Anti-Servian Demonstration at Scene of Murder.

MARTIAL LAW IS PROCLAIMED

Austrian Troops Have Difficulty Quelling Outbreak in Capital After Assassination—Victims of First Attack on Archduke and Wife Are Out of Danger.

Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 30.—A bomb thrown by a youth standing on a corner of the main street of the Bosnian capital was the signal for a serious anti-Servian outbreak, which the troops found considerable difficulty in quelling. The only harm caused by the bomb was a slight injury to a passing Mussulman, but the rougher element seized on the incident as an excuse to begin a demonstration. They were joined by a number of Croatian students and the crowd passed along the streets stoning the windows of Servian shops, clubs, schools and houses and looting the interiors.

The manifestants paraded the streets with a portrait of Emperor Francis Joseph at their head and sang the Austrian national anthem. They attacked everything Servian until they were confronted by an overwhelming force of soldiers.

Martial Law for Bosnia.

Martial law was proclaimed both in the city and the district of Sarajevo in consequence of the assassination yesterday of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the duchess of Hohenberg.

Death masks of the archduke and the duchess were taken today and the bodies were placed on a catafalque in the chapel of the palace and surrounded by a magnificent display of wreaths and other floral emblems from all parts of the country.

Eveded Special Bodyguard.

According to the semi-official report of the tragedy, when Gavrio Princip, the young assassin, fired the fatal shot, Field Marshal Oskar Potiorek, governor of Bosnia, was seated in the archduke's motor car. Count Francis von Harrach was standing on the foot-board of the car, acting as a shield to the occupants, of whom he constituted himself the special bodyguard after a bomb had been thrown a short time before the assassination by Nedjeljo Gabrinovica.

The archduke was joking with the count about his precautions when the reports of several shots rang out. The aim of the assassins was so true that each of the bullets inflicted a mortal wound.

Neither Victim Utters Sound.

For an instant after the attack Field Marshal Potiorek believed the archduke and the duchess seated opposite him had escaped. Neither the archduke nor the duchess uttered a sound, but a moment afterward it was seen that they had been hit.

Lieutenant-Colonel Erik Merizzi, who had been wounded by the bomb in the first attack, is pronounced out of danger, while the injury sustained by Count von Boes-Waldeck is said to be insignificant.

Gabrinovics, it is learned, had been expelled from Sarajevo two years ago, but had been permitted recently to return through the intervention of a socialist member of the diet.

Some Servian students here, when they heard the news of the assassination, shouted: "Thank God, we need not do it ourselves." They were arrested as accomplices of the assassins.

Rulers to Attend Funeral.

Vienna, June 30.—In addition to the Kaiser, the kings of Spain, Bavaria and Saxony are expected to attend the funeral of the archduke and duchess. The bodies will be buried at the archduke's seat at Artstetten, about fifty miles from this city.

The bodies were removed from Sarajevo to Motkotch, in Dalmatia. They will be placed on a warship there today and, under the escort of a squadron of naval vessels, will be taken to Trieste. From Trieste the bodies will be brought to this city, where they will lie in state for public view from 8 a. m. until noon on Friday. They will be taken to Artstetten at 10 that night and the funeral will take place at midnight.

The archduke, Charles Francis Joseph, the new heir to the throne, will represent Emperor Francis Joseph at the funeral.

Cyclist Hits Fence; Killed.

Davenport, Iowa, June 30.—Training for motorcycle races here July 4, Sam Stickey lost control of his machine while going fifty miles an hour and plunged into a fence at the mile track. He died instantly.

Three Men Burn to Death.

Kansas City, Mo., June 30.—With all of the persons who were in the building at the time it caught fire accounted for, the police are positive that the death list of the fire that destroyed the Pittsburg boarding stable at 1233 Charlotte street was limited to three. Twenty-six persons were sleeping in apartments over the stables, and six men were in the barn.

REBELS AT EACH OTHER'S NECKS

Villa Rushes to Fight Carranza Instead of Huerta.

CHIEF HOLDS OFF SUPPLIES

Redoubtable Poncho Is Without Ammunition to Continue March to Mexico City and Supreme Chief Won't Give Him Any—Carranza Slaps at United States.

El Paso, June 30.—Another few days will witness a pitched battle between General Carranza and General Pancho Villa for supremacy in the constitutional cause, unless Carranza himself manifests a complete change of attitude.

Flaming with wrath because the supreme chief positively refused to forward him munitions sufficient to make the dash from Zacatecas to Mexico City, Villa and the flower of his army of 25,000 men are arriving at Torreon, which is only 270 miles from Monterrey. Carranza's new capital. The last stage has now been reached, for Villa has two lines of railroad with which he can throw his men across the state of Coahuila and he can do it before any of the eastern generals, reported loyal to Carranza, can come to his assistance. His military chiefs and representatives in the United States are now proceeding to Monterey for the purpose of discussing the mediation propositions, but they are going singly by way of Laredo and they have no men with them.

General Carranza at Monterey shows no signs of receding from any position he has taken. In a speech he reiterated that he only feared "Judas in his own ranks," which was taken as another slap at Villa. He also repeated his former declarations against the United States. He declared that the United States is assuming the role of a dictator and that Mexico is tired of dictators.

"No such role will be tolerated by the constitutionalists."

These words were enthusiastically cheered by all who heard them. Friends of the constitutionalist cause who are at the border towns, according to dispatches are making every effort to prevent an armed clash between the two factions. Carranza is being urged to send Villa the ammunition, but steadfastly refuses to do so.

Pierce Silent on Late Expose.

New York, June 30.—Henry Clay Pierce continues silent regarding the publication of letters showing his effort, through Captain Sherburne G. Hopkins of Washington, to get General Carranza to form a new railroad system in northern Mexico. In return for the favor the oil man was to do something to help finance the Mexican revolution.

Edward N. Brown, president of the National Railways of Mexico, whom Mr. Pierce was particularly anxious to have deposed, also declined comment on the railroad scheme that failed.

Flint Breaks Silence.

Charles R. Flint, the merchant who conferred with Carranza's aides, and who has shipped arms to the revolutionists, broke his silence with a statement in which he says that the revolutionists will need $50,000,000 after their final success to set up a new government in Mexico.

Captain Hopkins, who, with his father, has been for many years Mr. Flint's agent in Washington, called on the merchant at his office, and so did Senor Jose Vasconcelos, at one time an agent of Pierce and more lately an observer of the Niagara Falls mediation conferences upon the progress of which he reported to General Carranza. Asked if the conference was about the publication of letters exchanged between him and Vasconcelos and Captain Hopkins, Mr. Flint replied:

"No; it would take something more serious than that to bring Captain Hopkins from Washington. Those letters are not a serious matter."

"Did you confer about a plan to finance the prospective new government in Mexico?"

Carranza's Junta Awaits Proof.

Washington, June 30.—Members of the constitutionalist junta in Washington were still waiting tonight for proof of the charge made by a New York newspaper that the Carranza revolution was financed by "big business." Carranza's agents contended that as yet such proof was lacking in the exposure based on the stolen letters that have passed between Sherburne G. Hopkins and New York business men. Until such proof is forthcoming Carranza's agents declared that they would have nothing further to say in regard to the disclosures.

RUBE OLDRING

Red McGhee says:

Baseball sure boasts a bunch o' "Rubes." That name is easy on the tubes we use to root an' yell. An' it ain't any handicap. I never knew a Reuben yap who couldn't ring the bell. That Philadelphia champeen team has one Rube who is sure a dream—a husky, blonde lad. It's Oldring, outer garden guard—an' lemme tell you somethin', pard, Cobb can't make him look sad.

In Mr. Shibe's ol' left-field stands they yell an' stamp an' clap their hands each day when Rube trots out. They love him there. An' well they may. He's shown an A1 brand o' play—the same year in, year out. He don't force any circus stoff nor play the grandstand—nix. That's rough. The Rube fields with his head. He picks the batter, picks the spot where that guy always drives his swat. Then, if he flies, he's dead.

The guys who tout Frank Baker's bat might gize the Rube's a gentle pat—it's also quite some stick. It banks its home-run now an' then an' scores a fair-sized bunch of men. It ain't exactly sick. Give Rube the closest up-an'-down an' take his playin' all aroun'—you don't find nothin' slack. In case you doubt he's good just try to borrow, buy or steal this guy from wise ol' Connie Mack.

TO HAVE PRETTY HAIR.

If your hair is not as soft and pretty, or as fresh and full as that of some friend, do as she does—give it daily attention, just the same care you would a plant to make it healthy and beautiful. Luxuriant hair—soft, fluffy, thick and lustrous—is really a matter of care. If it is too thin, make it grow. If it is too dry and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. If you have dandruff it is because the scalp is too dry and flakes off.

Parsian Sage, an inexpensive tonic, which you can get from any druggist, or from Rowland Brothers, is just what you need—it softens the scalp, nourishes the hair roots, immediately removes dandruff, and makes the hair fluffy, lustrous and abundant. Parsian Sage takes away the dryness, stops itching head, makes the hair twice as abundant and beautifies it until it is soft and lustrous.

By the use of this helpful tonic any woman can easily make her hair fluffy, soft and pretty.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A.
B. Boscamp, 234 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to

ITCHING ECZEMA IS DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Used like cold cream to subdue irritation, and clear the skin.

Constant or intermittent irritation, producing itching and red angry Eczema patches on the skin is readily relieved with bold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the healing begins says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, para-not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic and antiseptic and nothing has ever been found to take its place in overcoming irritable and inflamatory affections of the skin.
While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; subdues the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it is often years later before any Eczema eruptions again appears.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist an ounce of bold-sulphur and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with itching. 145tf

ILLINOIS APPLES.

The following is taken from the current issue of Farm and Fireside:

Corn is not the only thing in sight in the cornbelt states. In Illinois, for instance, a fruit expert, W. F. Perrine, preaches and practices apple production and has the figures and cash to show that $500 per acre per annum net is within the reach of any apple grower who is willing to pay the price of protecting his fruit trees from insects and fungous diseases and supply the necessary plant food and culture.

A 12-acre orchard owned by Mr. Perrine and his brother in Marion county yielded apples that sold for $10,000 in 1907; and from the same trees 2,500 barrels were harvested in 1913. The last mentioned crop sold for $2 to $2.50 per barrel, or over $4,000 per acre.

The fact is that apple growing in Illinois was a lucrative business until the San Jose scale came in and ruined it. But if our apple growers would spray their trees and pay half as much attention to the crop as they do in California they would reap similar results. Fruit growing in Illinois, as elsewhere, is a continual battle with the insect pests, and those who allow the insects to get the better hand suffer. Those who fight them on scientific lines prosper, and here is the whole thing in a nutshell. The old method of farming is no longer profitable. The farmer must own his land and work it scientifically.

THE FIFTH STREET PROJECT.

The plan of the city commissioners to open Fifth street under the Illinois Central tracks in West Dixon for public use is one that should receive general support. There is too great a distance between the present viaduct at Third street and the next crossing, at Seventh street, and, moreover, the Seventh street crossing is considered to be a dangerous one for school children to cross, and there are many of them who are at present forced to go that way, and it is none too safe for grown-ups or vehicles.

If this work could be followed up by arrangements for crossing gates at the crossing of the switch tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern and Illinois Central roads and Galena avenue, at the south end of the wagon bridge, another dangerous trap, the two most dangerous crossings in the city, would be guarded.

NO PROGRESSIVE TICKET.

Over in Clinton, Iowa, the three parties held a county convention on Saturday, or at least they were supposed to hold one. The democrats had a big convention, the republicans had a big convention, and the progressives were supposed to have a big convention, but this is what the Clinton Daily Advertiser, a democratic paper, says of the big Bull Moose mass meeting:

There was no progressive convention at the court house this morning. Only a few members of the party were to be found at the court house. Sid Robb, chairman of the Progressive County Central Committee, was among those absent, and from present indications nothing will be done toward putting a county ticket in the field.

SALOON SCREENS THE TOPIC.

The overworked and much abused city commissioners got themselves into hot water with their ordinance prohibiting screens in saloon windows. The owners of the saloons, shy and modest as they are, put ferns and trees and cards and other things in the windows. They also, in a spirit of playfulness, have hung giant electric globes in the windows, and now the people who wanted the screens down so they could see into the saloons and find out all the wicked things that were going on in there, are balked again. It's a great disappointment to them.

CHIPERFIELD FOR CONGRESS.

B. M. Chiperfield of Canton has announced his candidacy for congressman at large for Illinois. Chiperfield has selected the psychological moment to run. It is doubtful if next November the state of Illinois returns a single democratic congressman. Chiperfield was on the ticket two years ago, or at the last election, and went to pieces owing to the progressive landslide, but next November the prospect is that the bull moose party will be so small as to be an inconsiderable factor. So far as ability is concerned and a record as a member of the legislature, Chiperfield stands in the front rank. More power to his arm. Let him go in and win.—Peoria Star.

CONCRETE COUNTY ROADS.

Up to yesterday noon Chairman C. C. Buckaloo, of the Lee county Board of Supervisors, had been in a quandary. The county must decide whether brick or concrete shall be used on the state aid roads and a vote of the various board members brought in a tie, ten for brick and ten for concrete. Late yesterday Supervisor O'Malley of Marion phoned the Chairman that he favored concrete, bringing the concrete men up to eleven, so, evidently, concrete wins. Concrete is cheaper and will make more mileage.

MCKENZIE MAKES HIS ANNOUNCEMENT.

Hon. John C. McKenzie, who for a little over three years has represented the Old Thirteenth Congressional district in Washington, today makes his formal announcement of candidacy in another part of this paper. John McKenzie is the kind of man who can uphold the honor of the "Old Hitt District," and he deserves to be returned. He apparently has no opposition in the ranks of his own party and his nomination assures his election.

Being King has its little drawbacks, doesn't it? You have less than an even chance of escaping the leaden bullet, the vicious dirk, the bomb, the dynamite or, perchance, a cute little dose of something-or-other in the breakfast food.

The Fortune Teller

BY WALT MASON

A gypsy maiden, strangely wise, with dusky hair and midnight eyes, my future life unveiled; she said she'd read the lines of fate for many another trusting skate, and never yet had failed. She was a maid of savage charms; great brazen rings were on her arms, and she had strings of beads; with trinkets she was loaded down; the noisy colors of her gown recalled no widow's weeds. She told me I would live to be as rich as Andy or John D., my dreams would all come true; I'd have a palace on a hill, and vassals near to do my will, a yacht to sail the blue. And as she told what blessings fine, what great rewards and gifts were mine, in low and dulcet tones, her nimble fingers, ne'er at rest, got closer to my checkered vest, and lifted seven bones. She touched me for my meagre roll, that poor, misguided, heathen soul, but still her victim smiles; she gave me dreams for half a day and took me with her to Cathay and the enchanted isles. Her glamor caused me to forget a little while the strife and sweat, the city's bricks and stones; she took my toilworn soul all road, and she is welcome to my wad—I still have seven bones.

INDICT MELLEN; HIT TWO OTHERS

Conspiracy Charge in Connection with Loans.

ONE OF MEN ACCUSED DEAD

Grand Jury in Cambridge, Mass., Acts in Connection With New Haven Case—Large Thefts of Funds Are Charged as Perpetrated Through the Conspiracy.

Cambridge, Mass., June 30.—Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company; Frederick S. Mosely, a banker, and Ralph D. Gillette of Westfield were indicted on a charge of conspiracy by the Middlesex county grand jury.

The true bill charges the inducing of the investment committees of two savings banks in Cambridge to lend money to the Hampden railroad corporation.

Accessories Before the Fact.

All were indicted also as accessories before the fact of conspiracy. Gillett, who was at the head of the Hampden railroad corporation, died about a year ago. Mosely, who is a banker in Boston, is alleged to have been interested financially in the road.

Road Designed as Link.

The road was designed as a link to connect the Central Massachusetts division of the Boston & Maine with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad near Springfield, Mass. It parallels in part the Athol branch of the Boston & Albany railroad.

Bank Committees Also Hit.

The entire investment committees of the Cambridge Savings bank and the East Cambridge Savings bank were indicted on account of conspiracy to lend money to the Hampden corporation.

HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't look old! Try Grandmother's recipe to darken and beautify faded, lifeless hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Dixon Citizen's Experience Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had had luck. Now supposing you had a bad back.

A lame, weak, or aching one. Would you experiment with it? You will read so many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony.

Read this Dixon case:

J. B. Clark, 722 Highland Ave., Dixon, says: "I had kidney complaint and backache and the doctors seemed unable to do anything for me. Finally I read of Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a supply at Leake Bros.' Drug store. They cured me and I haven't had any serious trouble since. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills worthy of the highest praise and I gladly confirm the endorsement I gave them some years ago."

Mr. Clark is only one of many Dixon people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Clark had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. GEORGETTE AND JOSEPH

By CARL MUNSON.

Georgette had resolved that her small brother, Joseph, in one way or the other, should take part in the national festival.

She was ten years old and he was five. He was very small for his age, with a wrinkled and grave little face. He was always suffering from some illness, and he was permanently bedridden, as his legs refused to carry him along.

Two years had passed since their mother had died, and it was Georgette who took care of him now. The father was fond of wandering about and was very seldom at home. He strolled around, working here and there, returning with some money and a secret fear that the children might have died of starvation in the meantime. He cried and kissed them and accused himself of being an unnatural father and swore never to leave them again. Then he would stay at home for some days without doing any work and complain of unemployment. This made him nervous and uneasy and at last he would make his escape, leaving his last money with Georgette.

They lived on the top floor of a house in one of the suburbs, an unhealthy house it was, so miserable that it had become a proverb, even in this shabby quarter. Its tenants were mostly rag pickers, beggars and drunkards, whose number was always decreased by sickness and death.

In this house, in a small, shabby room with one single window facing a dark yard, a room which was always dark even on a bright day, Georgette spent all her time with her brother. Once she had persuaded a physician to visit him and he had given her some medicine, but what was most needed was fresh air and a more healthful place in which to live.

From the beginning of July he had talked to his sister of all the wonderful things he had seen that year when he himself had been able to go out in the street and look at the festival and Georgette, who wished that he shouldn't be disappointed this year and who did not dare to try to carry him through the crowded streets, had made up her mind to make an illumination for Joseph alone.

She began her preparation in good time. She helped her neighbor to unwrap colored lamps and got three of them in return. Near the mayor's house one day she found four colored glasses filled with oil, and for her last few centimes she bought a small Roman candle.

As the boy lay in bed she could not surprise him, and he enjoyed Georgette's preparations very much. She hung the lamps on a cord.

In the evening when all the streets were illuminated the sister lighted the colored lamps, and the colored glasses she put in the four corners of the room. It was wonderful. Joseph lay in his bed and laughed with joy, but the lamps smoked and Georgette had to open the window facing the ill-smelling yard. At 10 o'clock she lighted the Roman candle. It was a very cheap one, and at first it would not burn, but suddenly caught fire and filled the room with a red light and a horrible smoke.

The small boy coughed. Georgette rushed to the door and opened it. In the draught the flames in the lamps reached the wall paper. In a few minutes the fire reached the wooden frames of the window and the door. In vain Georgette tried to stop the fire, and with little Joseph clinging to her neck she rushed to the stairs.

At midnight the old house had burned down and only a heap of stones was left.

A crowd of people had collected in the square, together with the former occupants of the old house. The authorities of the suburb had arrived and one of them, a tall gentleman, put some questions to the concierge.

"It was the little one on the top floor who started the fire," she said. "Only she and I were in the house when the fire broke out. I won't say she did it purposely, but I shouldn't wonder if she did."

"Where is she?"

The concierge caught hold of a small shadow who was carrying something on her back.

Georgette, who was black with smoke and still carrying Joseph, stood before the stern judge, trembling and unable to say a word.

"Is it you who put the house on fire?" the tall gentleman asked her harshly.

Georgette did not try to lie. If she was to be put into prison and her little brother taken away from her it was better to get through it as quickly as possible. She confessed with trembling voice:

"Yes, it was me. I did not do it on purpose. It was for Joseph's sake. He was ill and I wanted to amuse him by illuminating the room—and then it began to burn as I opened the door to get some fresh air into the room."

She stopped, awaiting her sentence. Everybody was looking at her and the fear nearly choked her.

"Excellent," said the judge suddenly. "It wasn't done on purpose, but it was excellent that it was done. That miserable house has too long poisoned the whole quarter. It was a very wholesome fire. The occupants of the house may occupy the new school-house and the community shall help them. And you, little girl, I sentence to three months in a house of recreation in the country, together with your little brother. That is no more than common justice."

Do not fail to drop in and see our book of choice songs. A special offer to readers of the Telegraph. Read display ad elsewhere in this issue of the Telegraph.
